

Testimonials

As a recent new member, I found that the congregation made an immediate effort to reach out and embrace me and my family. The children and teachers in the religious school made my children feel like they had been there all along. – Paul Solomon

We have three children in the religious school. They are all having a terrific experience. They're learning Hebrew and having fun. The teachers are dedicated, supportive, and knowledgeable. – Seth Eilberg

As a convert to Judaism, I came to CMT not knowing what to expect. After experiencing three different rabbis here, all of them personable and erudite, and after having been involved extensively in Sisterhood, I can say that CMT and its members have become my family. Oh, and check out the Sisterhood's GREAT cookbook. No recipe went in it that was not fully tested and passed "the taste test". This cookbook will assist you in becoming the next Jeff Nathan! – Patricia A. Rhoads

We have been members of CMT for 14 years, and our son has been enrolled in the religious school for 7 years. We are very pleased with the education he has received so far. Congregation Mercy and Truth provides a warm and inviting atmosphere, while providing a traditional conservative religious environment. – Amy Wolf

We moved to Pennsylvania four years ago. Truth and Mercy synagogue has become our second home. A warm and friendly shul. We urge you to come and check us out. – Jozeph Nijboer

After moving to Pottstown, PA, three years ago, and being away from the synagogue for I don't know how long, I found Congregation Mercy and Truth by searching for a conservative synagogue on the internet. Upon walking into the building when coming to my first Shabbat Service here, I felt such a warmth and emotional bond to the place that I feel as if I have come back "home". I was welcomed warmly by the Rabbi and the congregants who were present and I just knew that this is the place I wanted to be. Since that day, I have become more involved in the activities here and even occasionally read a haphtarah portion at Shabbat Services, something I haven't done since my Bar Mitzvah. – Mark Pastor

Our family joined Congregation Mercy and Truth when our now teenage children were very young. We were welcomed and have considered CMT our home ever since. Two Bat Mitzvahs and many years of Jewish education later, we cannot imagine a better place offering a fulfilling sense of Jewish identity. A welcoming and all inclusive congregation and an interfaith marriage as well, we treasure our relationship with CMT. We invite others, young and old, with children or without, reform, conservative, and orthodox, to join a synagogue that has been in existence for over 100 years and write their own personal Jewish history. – Meghan, Meredith, Tim, and Wendy Manley
